

What do leading organizations including the Federal Reserve Bank, the IRS, Chanel, Deutsche Bank, NBC, JPMorgan Chase and Con Edison have in common?

A:

Per Scholas. These organizations and many others trust Per Scholas to recycle, repurpose or recondition their end of life computer equipment while expressing their corporate social responsibility.

How do we do it? >

Per Scholas will dispose of your end of life computer equipment. We pick up all of your old equipment and transport it to our state of the art recycling facility, where we recycle or repurpose all of the components to EPA standards. If viable, we recondition equipment for use by nonprofit organizations and low-income families.

LEADING

- We have the largest regional recycling center in the New York area, capable of handling over 1 million units per year.
- We work with many leading organizations to handle their end of life recycling needs.

“Per Scholas delivers on so many levels, both as a leading recycler of end-of-life computer equipment and by helping less fortunate individuals elevate their quality of life by teaching them valuable skills in computer technology. Per Scholas’ service is professional, and we would recommend them to anyone facing the challenge of dealing safely and responsibly with end-of- life computer equipment.”

*Ms. Vanessa Devillez, Con Edison
Manager, Sustainability Strategy, Environment,
Health and Safety*

SECURE

- We clear all data from hard drives using Department of Defense data security protocol.
- We have a bonded secure warehouse and track all components every step of the way.
- We can provide certificates of destruction or recycling.

“Data security is one of the primary considerations when recycling end of life computer equipment. We have full confidence in PER SCHOLAS’ proven ability in this area. They understood our concerns and responded with the facts. That convinced us!!”

Caron Sonnenberg, Sonnenberg Haviland & Partners, A Marketing Group

Per Scholas lets you take the higher ground.

Our high quality recycling is designed for your peace of mind.

But we do far more than recycle. Per Scholas is dedicated to making the benefits of technology available to all. Wherever possible, Per Scholas reconditions machines for subsidized sale to nonprofit organizations and low-income families. Per Scholas also trains computer technicians for a better future.

With Per Scholas, you get the highest quality recycling and the opportunity to meet your corporate social responsibility targets for the community and your shareholders.

“Working with Per Scholas has been very rewarding for us. Apart from benefiting from their excellent recycling services, we have seen many people’s lives improved-even transformed-by Per Scholas’ technology access and training programs.”

*Matthew Marasco, NBC
Facility & Hardware Manager*

EPA-APPROVED

- Our recycling process responsibly disposes of all the potentially harmful materials in computer equipment.
- We are forward compliant with proposed EPA legislation on recycling of end of life computer equipment.

Contact us for more information on how Per Scholas can help you recycle your end of life computer equipment.

1231 Lafayette Avenue, Bronx, NY 10474
 Website: www.perscholas.org
 Telephone: 1.800.877.4068 or 1.718.991.8400
 E-mail: recycling@perscholas.org

Per Scholas is a nonprofit organization established more than a decade ago to bring technology to nonprofit organizations and low-income families. A key part of our activities is recycling end of life computer equipment for large organizations. Your equipment and support makes our achievements possible. To date we have recycled over 300,000 computers, trained over 800 computer technicians for careers in the IT field, and enabled over 25,000 families to gain access to information technology.

1231 Lafayette Avenue, Bronx, NY 10474

Website: www.perscholas.org

Telephone: 1.800.877.4068 or 1.718.991.8400

E-mail: recycling@perscholas.org